

Team Members:

Isaac Padilla, Karina Rivera, Juan Reyna, Ricardo Morales, Jonathan Hernandez

Recreational Activity Tracker – 1

1. Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.
2. Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?
3. Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.
4. Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.
5. Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.
6. Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.
7. Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?
8. Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.
9. Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?
10. Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

Budget Simulation Questions - 2

1. Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?
2. Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?
3. Walk me through how you currently evaluate whether a purchase fits within your budget.
4. Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?
5. Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.
6. Tell me about the last time you changed your spending habits because you wanted to buy something.
7. What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?
8. Tell me about the last time an unexpected expense changed a purchase you were planning to make.
9. Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?
10. What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

Item Holder Questions - 3

1. Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.
2. Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?
3. What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?
4. Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.
5. Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?
6. Tell me about the last time timing affected whether you bought something you wanted.
7. Walk me through how you currently keep track of items you want to purchase later.
8. Tell me about the last time you changed your plans so you could purchase an item before it became unavailable.
9. Tell me about the last time you missed a sale or deal on something you intended to purchase. What happened afterward?
10. What options did you consider the last time you couldn't immediately purchase an item you wanted?

Picture Exploration Questions - 4

1. Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?
2. Walk me through how you decided whether that place was worth visiting.
3. Tell me about the last time a photo or video influenced you to visit a particular place.
4. Tell me about the last time you saw a place online that looked different when you visited it in person.
5. What sources did you use the last time you researched somewhere you had never visited before?
6. Tell me about the last time another person's experience influenced where you decided to go.
7. Tell me about the last time you had difficulty finding enough information about a place you were considering visiting.
8. When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?
9. Tell me about the last time you shared a place you visited with someone else. How did you share it?
10. Tell me about the last time you decided against visiting a place after researching it. What changed your mind?

Planning Scheduling with Forceful Pictures - 5

1. Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.
1. Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?
2. What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?
3. Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.
4. Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.
5. Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.
6. Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

7. Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?
8. How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?
9. Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

Budget Simulation Project

Interview 1

Interviewer(s)	Karina Rivera
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	12:10 pm
Location	El Paso Community College
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Budget Simulation Project Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	EPCC Early College Student
How they were reached	Reached in person at EPCC
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?

- “Textbooks, I needed them for schoolwork.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?

- “A new iPad. I wanted one, but I don't need one, so there is no point in really getting a new one.”

Question 3

Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?

- “If I really needed it, and it was in the budget that I could afford it then it was worth it.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.

- “I don’t think I have really made that big of a purchase for me to not be able to afford something.”

Question 5

What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?

- “The reviews”

Question 6

Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?

- “I can’t think of anything that I have regretted buying.”

Question 7

What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

- “I usually use my mom because she is really good at managing money and seeing if I need something or not.”

Interview 2

Interviewer(s)	Karina Rivera
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	1:30 pm
Location	El Paso Community College

Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Budget Simulation Project Idea
----------------	---	----------------------	-----------------------------------

Role or descriptor	EPCC Early College Student
How they were reached	Reached in person at EPCC
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?

- “The last significant purchase I made was my AirPods.”
- “I decided I could afford it because it was my birthday money and I already had extra money, so I just bought them.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?

- “Get new shoes but i didn’t end up getting them.”
- “I didn’t have any money, and I didn’t want to ask my mom for money.”

Question 3

Walk me through how you currently evaluate whether a purchase fits within your budget.

- “I look at the expenses and see if it’s really worth it or not and if it’s between my budgets.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?

- “Looking for a game and it really wasn’t worth it because it was not a good game.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.

- “Buying new clothes and I couldn’t buy other stuff that I needed.”

Question 6

Tell me about the last time you changed your spending habits because you wanted to buy something.

- “I stopped spending money at school so that I could buy stuff that I like such as clothes.”

Question 7

What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?

- “If it really was worth it.”
- “If it was good quality.”

Question 8

Tell me about the last time an unexpected expense changed a purchase you were planning to make.

- “I had to pay for the gym and I forgot, so I couldn’t buy food.”

Question 9

Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?

- “Getting a new headset.”
- “I honestly didn’t need it.”

Question 10

What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

- “I asked my brother for help because he always helps me with money.”

Interview 3

Interviewer(s)	Karina Rivera
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	1:50 pm
Location	El Paso Community College

Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Budget Simulation Project Idea
----------------	---	----------------------	-----------------------------------

Role or descriptor	EPCC Student
How they were reached	Reached in person at EPCC
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?

- “My classes were a big purchase”
- “I look at how worth it it is going to be in the future especially for my kids.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?

- “My husband and I were thinking of financing another car.”
- “Decided to wait it out because it would cut our budget by a lot.”

Question 3

Walk me through how you currently evaluate whether a purchase fits within your budget.

- “If I can afford it after all the monthly payments, if not it probably will be more of a stress on our expenses”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?

- “Shoes or bags”
- “I try to sit with the thought before spending my money.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.

- “Starting school prevented me from spending that money on other things that were not necessary.”

Question 6

Tell me about the last time you changed your spending habits because you wanted to buy something.

- “For my daughter's birthday we planned a Disney trip.”
- “To be able to do that we had to save as much and any left-over money that we could.”

Question 7

What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?

- “I did some research online to see other people’s experience.”

Question 8

Tell me about the last time an unexpected expense changed a purchase you were planning to make.

- “Having to buy my books.”
- “I had to cut back on other things i was planning to buy”

Question 9

Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?

- “I haven’t made any recent purchases I regretted.”

Question 10

What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

- “I rely on my husband a lot and I also go to my parents for financial advice.”

Interview 4

Interviewer(s)	Karina Rivera
----------------	---------------

Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	10:30 am
Location	Walmart Neighborhood Market
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Budget Simulation Project Idea

Role or descriptor	Store visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at grocery store
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?

- “If it was like budget friendly according to what I could spend.”
- “I just see if it could fit my budget.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?

- “If I really needed it or not.”
- “If it was actually going to improve my day-to-day”

Question 3

Walk me through how you currently evaluate whether a purchase fits within your budget.

- “If it's going to make my life easier somehow or smoother.”
- “If it would make something that’s bothering me a little bit easier and more comfortable”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?

- “I just compared whether it was going to make my life easier or not.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.

- “Something that I thought I needed because it was going to make things a little bit smoother.”
- “It prevents me from buying other stuff that I don’t really need.”

Question 6

Tell me about the last time you changed your spending habits because you wanted to buy something.

- “I stop buying other things that are just for entertainment.”
- “Not stop buying at all but minimize the spending on that.”

Question 7

What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?

- “Reviews to find out whether the product was good quality or not.”
- “Reviews from the app itself where I'm buying it from, from people who have bought the product before and tested it out.”
- “Sometimes it can also be videos.”
- “Reviews in general and making sure that the product comes from a reliable brand.”

Question 8

Tell me about the last time an unexpected expense changed a purchase you were planning to make.

- “When you have to fix your car.”
- “It's something that you need day to day to go to work, school, or wherever you want to go”

Question 9

Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?

- “Something that was very cheap that I didn't really like the product.”
- “The way that I see it is next time you do a little bit more research on the product to make sure that you get something that is worth your money in spending.”

Question 10

What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

- “Budgeting or saving up for the product.”

- “I really look for stuff that I really need.”
- “Making sure that I save enough and that it fits within my needs.”

Interview 5

Interviewer(s)	Karina Rivera
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	6:00 pm
Location	Walmart Supermarket
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Budget Simulation Project Idea

Role or descriptor	Store visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at grocery store
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last significant purchase you made. How did you decide whether you could afford it?

- “Running shoes.”
- “I decided whether i could or couldn’t if I had three times the amount the shoe was.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last purchase you wanted to make but decided not to. What influenced your decision?

- “I wanted to buy another pair of running shoes.”
- “I decided not to because they were a want not a need.”

Question 3

Walk me through how you currently evaluate whether a purchase fits within your budget.

- “If I could buy it three times.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time you were uncertain whether something was worth its price. What did you do?

- “It goes back to my running shoes.”
- “I asked people around.”
- “Saw YouTube videos about it whether they were good or not.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last purchase that affected your ability to pay for something else afterward.

- “An unnecessary purchase like my AirPods max.”

Question 6

Tell me about the last time you changed your spending habits because you wanted to buy something.

- “Looking into my debt so that I could pay off my car and my school.”

Question 7

What information did you look at before making your most recent expensive purchase?

- “I went to social media, YouTube, to see reviews whether it was worth it or not.”

Question 8

Tell me about the last time an unexpected expense changed a purchase you were planning to make.

- “When I crashed my car.”
- “I was forced to get another car and that was unplanned for.”

Question 9

Tell me about the last purchase you regretted for financial reasons. What happened?

- “I regret buying my AirPods max”
- “The amount of money that I paid for could have went into another thing more productive like getting off, not getting out of debt completely but working towards it.”

Question 10

What tools, methods, or people did you use the last time you needed help deciding whether you could afford a purchase?

- “Friends and family.”
- “As well as YouTube, hearing out financial advisors on YouTube.”

Picture Exploration Idea

Interview 1

Interviewer(s)	Isaac Padilla
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	12:36pm
Location	Shops at Outlet Mall
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Picture Exploration Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	Outlet mall visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at Shops at Outlet Mall
Relevant experience with the problem area	Uses ChatGPT to explore new locations and uploads to social media.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?

- The participant decided to visit a flower-themed coffee place.
- They discovered it through ChatGPT.
- They asked ChatGPT for “a coffee place, but it has flowers.”
- ChatGPT suggested a location on the west side.
- The participant said it was the only location suggested.
- The participant later checked the place on Instagram.

Question 2

Walk me through how you decided whether that place was worth visiting.

- After finding the coffee shop through ChatGPT, the participant went to Instagram.
- They saw that the place had “really cute pictures.”
- They thought it was “decorated really nice.”
- They noticed that people visited the location to take pictures.
- The participant liked that it had a “nice background.”
- The participant decided it would be a good place to go with friends.

Question 3

Tell me about the last time a photo or a video influenced you to visit a particular place.

- The participant was searching for a place to shop.
- They searched on Google and found photos of the location.
- There were “a lot of pictures.”
- The photos influenced their interest in visiting the shopping location.

Question 4

- The participant mentioned Rose Café.
- The place looked bigger online than it was in person.
- It was “smaller than what I thought.”
- The participant expected more space for taking pictures.
- They said it was not “that comfy to take pictures” because the location was too small.
- They expected there would be more room between people when taking photos.
- The participant said the place looked nice both online and in person.
- The difference was mainly the amount of physical space, not the appearance of the location.

Question 5

What sources did you use the last time you researched somewhere you had never visited before?

- The participant said they use ChatGPT as their main source.
- They use ChatGPT to ask specific questions about locations.
- They said ChatGPT provides information such as the number of reviews a place has.
- The participant believed ChatGPT may use Google or similar online sources.

Question 6

Tell me about the last time another person’s experience influenced where you decided to go.

- The participant described being trusted by another person to recommend places.
- The person asks what the participant thinks when deciding where to go.
- The participant’s recommendations may depend on the specific place.

Question 7

Tell me about the last time you had difficulty finding enough information about a place you were considering visiting.

- The participant wanted to try Korean ice cream.
- The location was about 45 minutes away.
- They could not find information about the prices.
- They did not want to travel that far without knowing how much it would cost.

Question 8

When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?

- The participant took “cute photos” and videos.
- They said, “If it’s pretty, I’ll take video.”
- The participant usually keeps photos for themselves.

Interview 2

Interviewer(s)	Isaac Padilla
Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	2:40pm
Location	Sunland Park Mall
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Picture Exploration Idea

Role or descriptor	Sunland Park mall visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at Sunland Park Mall
Relevant experience with the problem area	Uses Instagram and google to find new places to visit.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1:

Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?

- The participant visited Lumus Burger in Ciudad Juárez the day before the interview.
- Lumus Burger was described as a burger restaurant with a Harry Potter theme.
- The participant discovered it while scrolling through Instagram Reels.
- They said they often see content related to Juárez and El Paso on Instagram.
- The participant thought Instagram may have recommended the restaurant because it was relevant to their city.
- They saw a video of the restaurant and then decided to visit it.
- Note: The participant connected Instagram's local or regional recommendations with discovering new places.

Question 2:

Walk me through how you decided whether that place was worth visiting.

- The participant researched Lumus Burger on Google Maps and on the restaurant's Instagram page.
- They saw "good feedback" on Google Maps.
- They mentioned seeing about 10 very positive reviews.
- The restaurant's Instagram page had many photos of its products.
- The participant said the restaurant was "very visual."
- They decided it looked worth visiting because "it looks good, and people are saying it is good."
- Note: The participant combined customer reviews with visual product photos before deciding to visit.

Question 3:

Tell me about the last time a photo or a video influenced you to visit a particular place.

- Lumus Burger was discovered through an Instagram Reel.
- The video influenced the participant to visit the restaurant.
- Note: The participant used the same example as Question 1.

Question 4:

Tell me about the last time you saw a place online that looked different when you visited it in person.

- The participant described a restaurant called Raivik Deichi.
- The restaurant looked "really, really cool" on Instagram and other social media.
- The restaurant had a screen on the ceiling with images and video effects.
- The online content made the ceiling display look immersive, including effects that made it seem like someone was underwater or somewhere else.
- When the participant visited, the screen displayed what they described as random videos.
- The participant said the experience "didn't feel cool."
- The online content made the restaurant seem more impressive than it felt in person.
- Note: The participant's expectations were not met because the online presentation made the atmosphere seem more immersive than the actual experience.

Question 5:

What sources did you use the last time you researched somewhere you had never visited before?

- The participant mainly uses Instagram Reels and Google Maps to find new places.
- The participant does not usually use AI tools such as ChatGPT for location recommendations.
- They said ChatGPT is often not updated and does not provide the best recommendations.
- Note: The participant trusts platforms with recent visual content, local discovery content, and user reviews more than AI-generated recommendations.

Question 6:

When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?

- The participant usually keeps photos in their phone gallery.
- They may share photos with one or two friends.
- They may tell friends, “Hey, look where I go, like, it’s cool.”
- They may invite friends to visit a place by saying, “Let’s come to this place as well.”
- The participant said that sharing photos or recommending places to others does not happen most of the time.
- Note: Photos are primarily kept for personal use, with occasional sharing or informal recommendations to friends.

Question 7:

Tell me about the last time you shared a place you visited with someone else. How did you share it?

- The participant may share photos of a place with one or two friends.
- They may tell friends that a place is cool and suggest visiting it together.
- Note: The participant did not provide a specific recent example of sharing a particular location.

Question 8:

Tell me about the last time you decided against visiting a place after researching it. What changed your mind?

- The participant considered visiting New York, New York, a restaurant in Ciudad Juárez.
- The restaurant looked appealing from the outside and had graffiti-style décor inside.
- The participant and their girlfriend wanted to try somewhere new because they often return to the same restaurants.
- They researched the restaurant using Google Maps, the restaurant menu, TikTok, Instagram Reels, influencer content, Google reviews, and comments on videos.
- Influencers said the food, restaurant, and service were good.
- Google reviews and comments from other customers were mostly negative.
- Negative comments said the pizza was bad, food took a long time to arrive, and servers had a bad attitude.
- The participant and their girlfriend decided not to visit because they saw more negative customer feedback than positive feedback.
- Note: The participant gave more weight to Google reviews and comments from regular customers than to influencer content.

Interview 3

Interviewer(s)	Isaac Padilla
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	1:00 pm
Location	Sunland Park Mall
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Picture Exploration Idea

Role or descriptor	Outlet mall visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at Shops at Outlet Mall
Relevant experience with the problem area	Discovers local places through friends and events
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1:

- Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?
- The participant's last local visit was the Falstaff Art Gallery near downtown.
- They had heard about Falstaff before but had not had a good opportunity to go.
- A friend invited them after a networking event.
- They went with a group of friends because the gallery was having an event.
- The participant described discovering the visit opportunity as "word of mouth."

Branching question:

When they invited you, did you do any research or look it up?

- The participant did not research the gallery immediately before going.
- They had researched it a few years earlier when considering taking a date there.

Question 2:

- Walk me through how you decided whether that place was worth visiting.

- The participant previously visited the Meow Wolf Art Gallery in Santa Fe.
- They said they “really liked it.”
- They described themselves as “a big fan of art galleries.”
- When they learned that Meow Wolf opened locations in Las Vegas and Denver, they wanted to visit them.
- The participant made a trip to Las Vegas specifically to visit the Meow Wolf art gallery.
- Their positive experience at the Santa Fe location influenced their decision to visit the Las Vegas location.
- Note: Familiarity with the Meow Wolf brand and interest in art galleries motivated the participant to travel to a new location.

Branching question:

Was your previous experience with a similar or branch location what made you want to visit the new opening?

- The participant confirmed that their prior experience with Meow Wolf influenced their interest in visiting the new location.
- They said hearing about a new art gallery opening in another city motivated them to visit it.

Question 8:

When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?

The participant takes photos and videos when visiting places.

They said photos and videos often “live and die on my phone.”

They do not usually share those photos or videos publicly.

Branching question:

Were there other places where you shared photos or enjoyed the place enough that you wanted other people to know?

- When visiting places with friends, such as a camping trip, the group shares pictures with each other.
- The participant also shares pictures when visiting places with family.
- The participant visited San Jose, California, for a conference with Carlos and met their younger sister there.
- While exploring places such as the Rose Garden and the Egyptian Museum, they took and shared pictures with each other.
- The participant said they are not very active on social media.
- Their photos generally remain on their phone unless they are shared privately with friends or family.

Note: The participant shares photos privately with people they traveled with rather than posting them on social media.

Question 10:

Tell me about the last time you decided against visiting a place after researching it. What changed your mind?

- The participant said they could not recall a time when negative reviews changed their mind about visiting a place.
- They said, “Not really, no.”
- They said they were sure it may have happened before but could not remember a specific example.

Interview 4

Interviewer(s)	Isaac Padilla
Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	3:12pm
Location	Sunland Park Mall
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Picture Exploration Idea

Role or descriptor	Sunland Park mall visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at Sunland Park Mall
Relevant experience with the problem area	Finds new places to visit through friends and stores pictures for memories
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1:

Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?

- The participant’s last new place was a Mexican restaurant.

- They discovered it through Google Maps.
- They searched for “Mexican restaurants nearby.”
- They needed the restaurant to be close to another location they planned to visit later.
- The participant said the decision was “more of a convenience.”

Question 2:

Has there been a place you looked up online that you thought was worth visiting? What made you think it was worth visiting?

- The participant looks for places on Instagram and asks people for recommendations.
- They said, “Here in El Paso, there’s not a lot of stuff going on.”
- Because they do not go out often, they rely on other people’s opinions.
- They rely especially on recommendations from people who know about local events.
- A coworker who works at events around the city helps them learn about events that may be good for dates or hangouts.
- The participant confirmed that they usually visit new places based on what other people share with them.

Question 3:

Tell me about the last time you saw a place online that looked different when you visited it in person.

- The participant did not give a specific example of a place that looked different online than in person.
- The participant does not set detailed expectations before visiting a place.
- They look at the time, location, and general idea of an event or place.
- They said, “I don’t like to get too, too much on the details.”
- They described their approach as: “This looks like it could be fun from this time to this time in this place. Let’s just go and we’ll see what it is.”

Question 4:

When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?

- The participant takes pictures for memories.
- They also use pictures to remember locations they have visited.
- They use the metadata on photos to check where a picture was taken.
- They use the location data to find a restaurant or place again later.
- The participant described using photos when trying to remember a place: “What was that restaurant sometime? Let me check the picture.”
- They can use the photo data to see the place on a map.

Question 5:

Tell me about the last time you shared a place you visited with someone else. How did you share it?

- The participant usually shares places through conversation.
- If someone talks about a type of place they like, the participant may recommend a related location.
- The participant opens a map, shows pictures, and shows the name of the place.

- They also show the general area where the location is located.
- The participant may say, “This is kind of related to what you like, let me show you.”
- The participant’s sharing method is informal and happens in person while talking to someone.

Interview 5

Interviewer(s)	Isaac Padilla
Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	4:25pm
Location	Sunland Park Mall
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Picture Exploration Idea

Role or descriptor	Sunland Park mall visitor
How they were reached	Reached in person at Sunland Park Mall
Relevant experience with the problem area	Checks reviews, photos, Instagram comments, and recommendations from other people before visiting. Posts photos and reviews on Google Maps.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1:

Tell me about the last new place you decided to visit. How did you discover it?

- The participant’s last new place was a board-game and trading-card-game store.
- The store was near Zaragoza.
- The participant discovered it through people they play Pokémon with.
- They heard about it from people who attended Pokémon activities there on Sundays.
- The participant also found the place through Instagram, websites, and ads.

Question 2:

Walk me through how you decided whether that place was worth visiting.

- The participant checks reviews on Google Maps.
- They check Instagram comments to see what people say about the place.
- The participant decided to visit because many people went there.
- People said the store had merchandise where they could buy Pokémon cards.
- People said there were many people to play with.
- The participant learned that it was a large location.
- The participant said their decision was based on people and comments from others, both in person and online.

Question 3:

Tell me about the last time you saw a place online that looked different when you visited it in person.

- The participant used the same board-game and trading-card-game store as an example.
- Google Maps showed old pictures of the location.
- The first photos shown were about five or six years old.
- Based on the first photos, the participant thought the store was small.
- The old pictures made the location look like “a little store.”
- After arriving, the participant found that the store was “huge.”
- The participant found newer photos after scrolling past the older images.
- Note: Older photos that appeared first on Google Maps created an inaccurate impression of the store’s size.

Branching Question:

Were there newer pictures online?

- The participant found newer pictures after scrolling through the older photos.
- The newer photos had been posted by other people.
- The older pictures were still the first images shown when the participant searched for the place.

Question 4:

What sources did you use the last time you researched somewhere you had never visited before?

- The participant used Google Maps.
- The participant used an app for Pokémon trading-card-game players.
- The app lists locations where weekly leagues or cup events are scheduled.
- The participant uses sources specific to the activity they want to do.

Branching Question:

Do you ever use AI to find new places to visit?

- The participant does not intentionally use AI tools to find places.
- They may see Google’s AI-generated results when searching online.
- The participant said, “Yes, but no.”
- They said Google shows AI results first when they search.
- The participant prefers using apps, Google Maps, Google search, and talking to people rather than AI tools.

Question 5:

Tell me about the last time another person's experience influenced where you decided to go.

- The participant prefers asking people directly about places they have visited.
- They ask questions such as, "You've been there, like, how is it?"
- Other people sometimes show the participant links or pages about a location.
- Most people share places with the participant through word of mouth.
- The participant is more influenced by people describing their experiences than by links alone.
- The participant may decide to visit after hearing that another person's experience was fun.

Question 6:

When you last visited somewhere you really enjoyed, what did you do with the photos or information you collected there?

- The participant takes pictures and collects information about places they visit.
- When they have a good experience, they post pictures on Google Maps.
- They leave Google reviews for places they enjoy.
- The participant has posted reviews for a Japanese-themed store, the board-game and trading-card-game store, and a clinic in Juárez.
- Note: The participant contributes photos and reviews to Google Maps after having a positive experience at a location.

Question 7:

Tell me about the last time you shared a place you visited with someone else. How did you share it?

- The participant hears about places mostly through word of mouth.
- The participant may receive links or pages from other people.
- The participant is more influenced by people explaining their personal experiences.
- The participant may decide to visit after someone describes a location as fun.
- Note: Most place-sharing happens through direct conversation rather than through links or social-media posts.

Item Holder Questions - 3

Item Holder ProjectInterview 1

Interviewer(s)	Ricardo Morales
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	2:36 pm
Location	Online

Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Item Holder Project Idea
----------------	---	----------------------	--------------------------

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	They were asked to do an online survey at UTEP where they provided their email to meet.
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.

- “Recently I was in NY and found a really cool jacket I like for $200 but due to funds and capping out my spending money I couldn’t buy it.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?

- “When I was in New York, we stopped at the Lego store. There was a Lego set I had been looking for on sale, but due to being frugal and lack of carry-on space I decided not to buy it.”

Question 3

What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?

- “I asked my Wife to buy it for me and i would pay her back when I got paid.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.

- “An item I wanted from a popular streetwear brand known as “FTP” did a clothing drop and the shirt I wanted instantly sold out as I was trying to purchase it.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?

- “A seller I've done great business with has never had a problem holding items for as long as I leave a payment to reserve it.”

Interview 2

Interviewer(s)	Ricardo Morales
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	7:15pm
Location	Online
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Item Holder Project Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	They were asked to do an online survey at UTEP where they provided their email to meet.
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.

- “August 6th.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?

- “Last Friday. I was broke.”

Question 3

What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?

- “Saved.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.

- N/A

Question 5

Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?

- “That's never happened.”

Interview 3

Interviewer(s)	Ricardo Morales
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	4:24pm
Location	Online
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Item Holder Project Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	They were asked to do an online survey at UTEP where they provided their email to meet.

Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.

- “Well there is a gaming laptop I have been wanting but I cannot get it right now.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?

- “Recently, during the labor day sale on BestBuy, the laptop I wanted was on sale but I did not get it as it seems unnecessary to buy something costly at the moment.”

Question 3

What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?

- “I wanted to get an iPad. I waited till I got my tax return and used it to buy the iPad I wanted.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.

- "There is a shoe I wanted to get from Footlocker. But they ran out of my size. And other stores did not have the color I wanted. So, I just skipped on buying it for the moment.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?

- “I cannot remember anytime where I asked to hold onto an item for me. I do not think I ever asked something like this at any store.”

Interview 4

Interviewer(s)	Ricardo Morales
----------------	-----------------

Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	12:00pm
Location	Online
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Item Holder Project Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	They were asked to do an online survey at UTEP where they provided their email to meet.
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1

Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.

- “The last time I found an item that I wanted to purchase but could not purchase it at that time was when I was visiting an antique store in California and found an antique trunk. I could not take it home on my flight back to El Paso, so I did not buy it.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?

- “The last time I considered buying an item on sale but passed on it was a pair of pants at Costco. They interested me because of the good price, but I decided that I did not really need them.”

Question 3

What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?

- “The last time I wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it was at a bookstore. I did not need to wait because I did not have the money. I wanted a book for my daughter, but I had to call her that night to make sure she did not already have the book.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.

- "The last time an item became unavailable before I was ready to buy it was when I wanted to buy a new coffee percolator. I thought the price was too high and was waiting for it to go on sale, which I thought it would. Instead of going on sale, it sold out and became unavailable.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?

- “The seller held the book overnight for me. And I did buy it the next day.”

Interview 5

Interviewer(s)	Ricardo Morales
Date	Sep 5, 2026	Time	12:30pm
Location	Online
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Item Holder Project Idea

Subject Information

Use a role or descriptor only. Do not record the subject's full name anywhere on this sheet.

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	They were asked to do an online survey at UTEP where they provided their email to meet.
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes

Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed
-----------------------------	---------------

Question 1

Tell me about the last time you found an item you wanted but could not purchase it at that moment.

- “I was shopping for a piece of furniture. I saw something I liked a lot, but it was not what I had planned to buy, so I left without buying it so I could think about it for a few days. And then I bought it.”

Question 2

Tell me about the last time you passed on an item even though it was on sale or offered at a good price. What stopped you?

- “Usually if I am looking for something and I find it at a good price I will buy it. If I don’t, that tells me I didn’t want it as much as I thought.”

Question 3

What did you do the last time you wanted an item but needed to wait before purchasing it?

- “I think I gave up and forgot about it.”

Question 4

Tell me about the last time an item became unavailable before you were ready to buy it.

- “I looked for similar items to buy.”

Question 5

Tell me about the last time you asked a seller or store to save an item for you. What happened?

- “They saved it for me and I bought it.”

Interview 1

Interviewer(s)	Jonathan Hernandez
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	2:32pm

Location	UTEP
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Recreational Activity Tracker

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.

“It was in a housing event, I did started to paint and I have been doing it since that.”

Question 2: Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?

" I wanted to learn how to play violin, but it is expensive to buy the instrument”

Question 3: Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.

“I do it whenever I have time, but I keep it constant.”

Question 4: Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.

" As a college senior I have a lot of homework plus I have work”

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.

“I have a weird work schedule it sometimes stops me to have time for me”

Question 6: Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.

“I started painting because of a housing activity”

Question 7: Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?

“I felt happy because I learned a new song”

Question 8: Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.

“I cannot think about a situation, I am not competitive but other people inspire me to become better”

Question 9: Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?

“I studied music for 2 years”

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

“I feel unmotivated because of the lack of time”

Interview 2

Interviewer(s)	Jonathan Hernandez
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	3:12pm
Location	Downtown
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Recreational Activity Tracker

Role or descriptor	Downtown Passerby
How they were reached	Reached in person

Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.

“2 months ago, I've started playing again soccer after not playing since my childhood.”

Question 2: Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?

“I wanted to play the guitar, the problem was that I didn't have the guitar strings for it so I couldn't play it.”

Question 3: Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.

“Writing about them on a notebook or in my computer, I like to keep track of my own progress.

Question 4: Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.

“So when I was working or studying I wanted to do things but I was always tired or didnt have time in the morning and night to try and do something.”

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.

“I think it was myself always my mind trying to stop me or the fact that someone said or did something that encouraged the action I was about to take I didn't took the risk.”

Question 6: Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.

“2 months ago like I said I resume my soccer Career because all of my friends wanted to join a league just for fun and I said Why not?.”

Question 7: Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?

“In the gym my body made a progress, seeing my body growth and being stronger was the thing that made me realize I'm being better.”

Question 8: Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.

“Thinking about how he will do that, how is he that strong, how can he speak so easily, how is he so intelligent, has made me retrieve my participation in a lot of things the last time it made me retrieve talking to someone because I thought someone was better looking”

Question 9: Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?

“I placed in a frame and is at this moment in my living room because I'm proud of it.”

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

“Comparison always affects how I see other things it made me retrieve from a competition because I thought someone was better and here I am”

Interview 3

Interviewer(s)	Jonathan Hernandez
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	4:31pm
Location	Downtown
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Recreational Activity Tracker

Role or descriptor	Downtown Passerby
How they were reached	Reached in person

Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.

“Drawing was always a hobby I wished to pursue, to imagine characters and stories is a great passion of mine, I wished to be able to bring them to life, last time I attempted drawing seriously and got a bit of success was some months ago, I did a sketch of which I think has been the best draw I've done so far, I did feel proud of it, but lost the progress because i had to factory reset my phone.”

Question 2: Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?

“Drawing, I had a major art block and couldn't really get hooked onto it.”

Question 3: Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.

“I imagine stories and write down a key idea that reminds me of that cord of events on the story to later write it on a google document more decently”

Question 4: Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.

“Work, just today.”

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.

“I used to have a friend, that kind of friend of which your bond is so strong you feel calm, safe, happy whenever you speak to them, we shared stories, characters, many years of it, the day they stopped talking to me it felt like they took a part of me with them, my inspiration to pursue drawing was drained away and makes me anxious whenever i try to draw again, since it remembers me of them.”

Question 6: Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.

“Time after the past incident with that friend, another friend of mine shared a character of theirs to me, I liked their design and for their birthday I did a draw of it for her, for some reason, I didn't feel anxious when drawing for her, I felt happy, like I made progress on getting through a mental trauma that my past friend left behind”

Question 7: Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?

“The amount of story building I've put onto the world my characters live in, I've expanded it to the point that many countries are well too different to one another, many characters, organizations and their own background.”

Question 8: Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.

“The friend I had in the past... The one that doesn't talk to me anymore, whenever I saw how much they progressed on their art and were able to move along with their live as if nothing between us ever happened, it made me feel small, made me feel like I couldn't be as good as them.

Question 9: Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?

“There hasn't been any real projects, milestones or achievements I've finished in regards of my recreational activities, mostly I just leave them as work in progress, but I use that knowledge of past works to keep trying to make my new ones better.

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

“Not long ago, if so, weeks ago, the feeling of not being good at it makes me feel demotivated from continuing at my art.”

Interview 4

Interviewer(s)	Jonathan Hernandez
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	5:02pm
Location	Downtown

Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Recreational Activity Tracker
----------------	---	----------------------	-------------------------------

Role or descriptor	Downtown Passerby who was a student
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.

“When I started playing with my friends.”

Question 2: Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?

“I wanted to try to learn how to paint but I'm color blind.”

Question 3: Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.

“I keep track on taking notes and setting up that I want achieve by the end of the month.”

Question 4: Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.

“When I had to work it keep me from building a CPU using only transistor.”

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.

“It doesn't happen for me because I usually managed my time.”

Question 6: Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.

“We started building a Op Amp from scratch.”

Question 7: Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?

“I recently started reading electronics books. Most of my progress comes from when I start my classes and understand better the classes.”

Question 8: Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.

“It really tanked all my progress due to me feeling like I was falling behind.”

Question 9: Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?

“I slept for almost 12 hours I was really exhausted.”

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

“Time”

Interview 5

Interviewer(s)	Jonathan Hernandez
Date	Sep 7, 2026	Time	5:23pm
Location	Downtown
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Recreational Activity Tracker

Role or descriptor	Downtown Passerby who was a graduated utep student
--------------------	--

How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Tell me about the last time you started a new recreational activity or hobby.

“I do not remember”

Question 2: Tell me about the last recreational activity you wanted to try but did not pursue. What happened?

“I wanted to try playing tennis. It was hard finding time in my schedule and finding someone to play with. It's not something I have given up on, but I haven't put as much effort to make it happen.”

Question 3: Walk me through how you currently keep track of your recreational activities, projects, or progress.

“I keep track of my activities by doing the ones I feel doing the most. I usually try to knock out my priorities such as work and chores and then on the time left do what I feel doing having in mind my energy and the how much I would like to do certain activity.”

Question 4: Tell me about the last time another responsibility prevented you from spending time on a recreational activity.

“The last activity that I withhold was writing because i did not have time or energy to do so because I was so caught up looking for a job and by the time I was free there was mental exhaustion that did not motivate/let me continue.”

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person affected whether you continued or stopped a recreational activity.

n/a

Question 6: Tell me about the last recreational activity you started because of a friend, group, or community.

n/a

Question 7: Think about a hobby you have made progress in recently. What happened that made you recognize that progress?

“A hobby I made progress recently was playing the guitar. It is a hobby that I usually stop doing but get back to it. I started listening to some beetle’s songs and thought that I could play them in the guitar and just got in a flow state where I learned how to play several songs not just the beetles but also different songs I had in mind for a while.”

Question 8: Tell me about the last time competition, comparison, or another person's progress affected your participation in an activity.

“Usually, competition gets me more hooked into an activity. The last time it got me was when my friend told me he was better than me in a video game and I started playing that video game more by myself and with him to prove I'm better than him.”

Question 9: Tell me about the last meaningful project, milestone, or achievement you completed in a recreational activity. What did you do with it afterward?

“Nothing in particular”

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you lost motivation or stopped participating in a recreational activity. What contributed to that?

Person ran out of time, so he had to leave so n/a

Planning Schedule with Forceful Pictures

Interview 1

Interviewer(s)	Juan Reyna
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	12:40pm
Location	Downtown
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Productivity

Role or descriptor	Passerby
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area	Uses an app that allows for everyone to be held accountable for their tasks.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.

- No plan, doesn't even plan, goes as he pleases, procrastinates a lot, get things done in the time when it needs it to get down.

Question 2: Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?

- Screening right now for an apartment not finished, the person is waiting for the realtor to finish their end, the task that they haven't completed yet was finish packing up their things, not yet completed due to mental health issues he has been dealing with.

Question 3: What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?

- This person would rush through the tasks to finish on time. Alternatively, take a step back and collect their thoughts before continuing.

Question 4: Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.

- They ignored getting their driver's license for a long while. The reason it took so long was their fear of failure.

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.

- Their significant other held them accountable for setting up an important appointment, since they would often forget or ignore it.

Question 6: Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.

- Their reward for getting their driver's license was that others would stop nagging them for not getting one and the accomplishment itself.

Question 7: Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

- Couldn't remember, N/A

Question 8: Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?

- They have a digital calendar where they and two others are a part of tracking their tasks they all need to get done due to one task affecting another if it is not done. In addition, knowing when all have free time to perform their schedules. One favorite feature was the ability to view each other's schedules. The only issue is the need for users to be active for the feature to be great.

Question 9: How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?

- Doesn't remember a moment, N/A

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

- Their last method was to get things done as soon as possible, get them out of the way.

Interview 2

Interviewer(s)	Juan Reyna
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	1:05pm
Location	Downtown
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Productivity

Role or descriptor	Passerby
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area	Has their daily tasks list for their occupation.

Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.

- Gathered items needed, review necessary instructions, and completed the jobs

Question 2: Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?

- Doesn't remember the last time they planned a task and completed it

Question 3: What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?

- Limited distractions, find outside help such as friends or family to help rid of distractions to help catch up again

Question 4: Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.

- No answer, N/A

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.

- No answer, N/A

Question 6: Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.

- Doesn't Remember, N/A

Question 7: Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

- Had to properly handle chemicals, if not, others might be harmed

Question 8: Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?

- A simple document where their schedule and tasks are displayed for the week.

Question 9: How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?

- The person has a checklist that has their list of tasks for that day.

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

- No Time they had to go

Interview 3

Interviewer(s)	Juan Reyna
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	1:50pm
Location	UTEP
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Productivity

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	Reached in person

Relevant experience with the problem area	Uses a single page document for their schedule, makes changes when needed.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.

- They check deadlines frequently and make sure to watch lecture videos or read before things are assigned, then make time to work on assignments, sometimes earlier so it doesn't conflict with work or other plans.

Question 2: Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?

- Last semester they had a project that looked like it'd take a lot of time and effort. Since they'd have an A with or without it, they decided not to do it; they were also overwhelmed by more important assignments from other classes.

Question 3: What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?

- They looked at what was more important and prioritized that. If they had time left, they'd do the rest. Sometimes it costs them to sleep or make them cancel/postpone plans.

Question 4: Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.

- They don't really set reminders, just check often what they need to do. They've delayed working on something after coming home tired from work, assuming they'd still have time.

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.

- They guess classmate friends have indirectly done that they ask each other how they did things after submissions, so added pressure to do well, so they don't look bad or can talk about it with them. Otherwise, professors mentioning deadlines in class is the most "direct" reminder.

Question 6: Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.

- They've bought treats after finishing work though that requires integrity, so you don't treat yourself without finishing. They tell themselves they'll do that once they're done, as a motivator.

Question 7: Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

- They said the clearest example was a class where a single project was their whole grade. Not finishing would've meant failing, probably losing their TA position, and possibly delaying graduation. Consequences of not doing something, bad grades, or losing their TA position are their main motivators.

Question 8: Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?

- No time, they had to go

Question 9: How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?

- No Time, they had to go

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

- No Time, they had to go

Interview 4

Interviewer(s)	Juan Reyna
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	2:25pm
Location	UTEP
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Productivity

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area	Uses Google Calander for their schedules
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.

- They put it on their Google Calendar, and do it when they get home.

Question 2: Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?

- They planned to clean their closet one weekend but didn't finish.

Question 3: What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?

- They don't do anything different, just set aside more time for the task.

Question 4: Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.

- They admit they're bad at procrastinating, they were cleaning their closet to put off a school assignment, since cleaning felt productive enough to make the avoidance feel okay.

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.

- The last time someone helped hold them accountable was when they and a friend quit nicotine the friend would talk them out of buying cigarettes or a vape when tempted. Not really about completing tasks though.

Question 6: Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.

- Their main motivator is having some time to do their hobbies, such as video games or creative arts.

Question 7: Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

- The thought of failing a class always motivates them to finish.

Question 8: Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?

- They only use Google calendar, and some widgets.

Question 9: How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?

- No Time, they had to go

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

- No Time, they had to go

Interview 5

Interviewer(s)	Juan Reyna
Date	Sep 4, 2026	Time	2:55pm
Location	UTEP
Phase (1 or 2)	1	Idea or problem area	Productivity

Role or descriptor	UTEP Student
How they were reached	Reached in person
Relevant experience with the problem area	They write their schedule down in notebooks for daily/weekly tasks.
Consent to take notes given?	Yes
Consent to follow up later?	Not discussed

Question 1: Walk me through how you planned the tasks you needed to complete during the past week.

- They looked up what was due that week, wrote it down, and did the most important things first.

Question 2: Tell me about the last task you planned to complete but didn't finish. What happened?

- Their Statistics homework was boring and they still had time, so they only did half.

Question 3: What did you do the last time you realized you were falling behind on your planned tasks?

- They had to complete a program application, but it was too long, so they left it until the last day.

Question 4: Tell me about the last time you ignored or postponed a reminder for something you needed to do.

- They remembered a project from their past course where they didn't care much about it, but the team told the interviewee that they would be accountable if the interviewee didn't put in some effort.

Question 5: Tell me about the last time another person helped hold you accountable for completing something.

- They write things down in a notebook, apps like Notion don't work for them because they forget about them.

Question 6: Tell me about the last time a reward motivated you to finish a task.

- They had to go

Question 7: Tell me about the last time a consequence or restriction motivated you to finish something.

- They had to go

Question 8: Tell me about the last time you used an app, planner, calendar, or another method to manage your tasks. What happened?

- They had to go

Question 9: How did you know you had completed everything you planned to do the last time you had a particularly busy day?

- They had to go

Question 10: Tell me about the last time you tried a new method to become more consistent or productive. Why did you try it, and what happened?

- They had to go